

Seminar Series 2008

San Diego October 31th, 2008

Place:

The Scripps Research Institute
10550 N. Torrey Pines Rd.
La Jolla, CA 92037
Web: http://www.scripps.edu/e\_index.html

Agenda:

- |       |                                                                                                                  |
|-------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 9:30  | Registration                                                                                                     |
| 10:00 | Laszlo Urge, Ph.D., CEO, ThalesNano Inc.Extending the Bounders of Chemistry                                  |
| 10:45 | Neal Sachs, Senoir Technology Scientist, Pfizer                                                                  |
|       | Additional user presentation - to be confirmed                                                                   |
| 12:00 | Lunch                                                                                                            |
| 1:00  | Richard Jones, Director of Product Management,ThalesNano Inc.New Advancements in the Thales product line |
| 2:00  | Product Break-out Session                                                                                        |
| 3:30  | Try Your Own Chemistry (numbers limited)                                                                         |
| 5:00  | Adjourn                                                                                                          |